Interest in the Intermediate Rowing Class Idea Growing.

Now, It is Said, Jake Kilrain Wants to Whip Charley Mitchell,

Most of the Harlem oarsmen are in favor of the proposed establishment of an intermediate race between the junior and senior eight-oared events. The general tenor of opinion is that such a move would stimulate interest in eight-oared rowing. They acknowledge that there is not enough incentive for immor eights which win the junior event to continue in training unless the eight is thought capable of making a good showing in the senior eight contest. The modesty of a majority of the eights which win the junior event precludes their entering in the senior events. Therefore, the disbandment of the crews follows as a matter of course. If the winners of junior events could race against each other it would serve-to enhance the interest in regattas very greatly, and it would make a most entertaining event. There is a probability that the question will be agitated by the Harlem and Passaic coarsmen and perhaps acted upon at the next business meetings of these two associations. of junior events could race against each other it would serve-to enhance the interest in regatts very greatly, and it would make a most entertaining event. The lacrosse team of the College of the City of New York has developed unexpected strength. It was thought that Princeton or Lehigh would surely win the College championship. They will have to do some harder work in the next games, as the New York College is playing in winning form.

Champion light-weight of the world Jack McAuiffe intends to stick to bookmaking this Summer. He has an ample capital with which to commence operatiors. Last season, it will be remembered, he was upward of $30,000 ahead of the game at one time.

the fact that it is Princeton College's day for evening its new athletic field, it is be-lieved that most of the crack Princeton men will come up from Princeton to compete in the staten island contests. A special train will be run from Princeton to the island. There will be a lacrosse game prior to the athletic competitions.

C. H. Sherrill's method of starting in the sprints from his hands, with kness almost touching the ground, is being gradually alcoted by other short-distance men. Tommy Lee, of the New Jork Athletic Club, is a notable imitator of the Yalensian.

A highly interesting and spicy bit of gossip is being discussed by sporting men of this city. The tid-bit they are rolling under their sources in the fact that Jake Kliram is said to have expressed a strong desire to meet Charley Mitchell, the English puglish, in the ring, for cash and satisfaction. Ever since Charles acted as second to Klirain in the latter's light with Sullivas, Jake has owed Mitchell a dressing. Jake thinks Charley was more of a speciator on that famous occasion than he was a second. Klirain, by the way, has just completed his term of service at Charley Rich's plantation, and is now free to come and go as he chooses.
